VETS; AUXILIARY SEAT OFFICERS AT JOINT MEET

E. D. Bristow To Lead
Local Post For 1934-
35 Term

E. Dixon Bristow, Niles grammar school principal, was installed as commander of the Washington Township Post 195 of the American Legion last night at ceremonies held jointly with the Ladies' Auxiliary at the Veterans' Memorial building, Niles. Mrs. Theresa Swartz, of Niles, was seated as president of the auxiliary.

Bristow was elected commander at a recent meeting of the veterans. Other officers installed are: first vice commander, George Kommas; second vice commander, Manuel Swartz; adjutant and treasurer, Frank X. Veit; chaplain, Walter Martenstein; sergeant at arms, Frank Rose; assistant sergeant-at-arms, Manuel Brazil; historian, Frank Mendonca; Junior Post commander, H. S. Wiseman; executive committee, E. D. Bristow, George Kommas, M. F. Swartz, Frank X. Veit, O. W. Ebricht, Ray Peterson, and John Dutra.

Bristow is experienced in leadership of legion posts, having been commander of the Crockett Post in 1922 and 1923. His ability and past accomplishments give prospects for an outstanding term.

Frank X. Veit is starting his eleventh consecutive year as post adjutant, having served in that capacity since 1924. He ranks with those of longest years of service in the State Department. He is a past county adjutant, likewise a past district adjutant and present district adjutant of District No. 10. He has been a delegate to all important conventions for several years, being a state representative to Chicago last year. He will represent the state again at Miami, Florida, on October 22-25.

The new officers all have excellent records with the local post. H. S. Wiseman, retiring commander, has completed a year of outstanding accomplishment and leadership.

Officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary installed last night are, in addition to Mrs. Swartz, president are: past president, Geneva Smith; first vice president, Irma Peterson; second vice president, Florence Nordby; secretary-treasurer, Rose Vieux; historian, Lena Bertolotti; chaplain, Nell Myers; sergeant-at-arms, Justine Adams; marshal, Marie Duarte. Executive committee: Beatrice Costa, Agnes Borges, Musician, Mrs. L. Perlera.

Niles Man Unhurt In First Rain Accident

The first accident attributed to the rain happened in Washington township Sunday morning when a car driven by Victor Catano skidded on the wet pavement on the Niles-Centerville road, and crashed into a tree. Catano was unhurt, and his machine only slightly damaged.

The accident occurred at the wide turn in the road near the Santos Avenue intersection. Catano, driving toward Centerville, struck a portion of the highway made slimy by drippings from a large gum tree, skidded, careened from a tree and came to rest in an orchard.

Mrs. Lester Duffy entertained her sewing club one afternoon last week.

MID-WEST COMING BACK RAPIDLY SAYS EDITOR PARKS

Interesting facts about conditions in the middle west and the temper of the people there after many hardships were contained in a letter received by the Register staff this week from Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Parks, vacationing in Nebraska on their way to Chicago.

The travelers stated that no crops had been harvested in eastern Nebraska, but that the country was green and fresh after rains. Of interest was Park's relation of the financial condition extant in the drought country. It seems that there is no money in the area save what has reached the agriculturists through the federal government in purchasing stock, and by direct aid. The people of the stricken regions are very discouraged, Parks said, but had no thought of abandoning their land. The new crops, urged by the belated rains, are bringing new hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks plan to begin the return trip to Niles sometime early next week.

Bride Honored At Luncheon Saturday

Miss Gertrude Keller, of Niles, was hostess at a bridge luncheon at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco Saturday afternoon, honoring Mrs. Lawrence P. Keller, Mrs. Keller, a recent bride, was Miss Marie Donohue, of Oakland before her marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Keller, who were married at San Jose September 8, returned to Niles last week after a honeymoon in the north-west.

They plan to build a new home on the Keller ranch, near Niles.

FARMERS UNION TO DISCUSS TARIFF AT GATHERING

Farmers of Washington township, among other farmers of the state whose markets are injured by competitive producers outside the United States, are urged to acquaint themselves with the tariff question, according to Mrs. W. A. Sloan, secretary of the local unit of the National Farmers' Union.

Quoting Ralph H. Taylor, executive secretary of the Agricultural Council of California, Mrs. Sloan tells of the necessity of a tariff on agricultural products, particularly in the state of California, whose crops come into direct competition with those of foreign countries, whose standard of living is low and where labor is cheap.

A few of the articles listed in the recently signed Reciprocal Trade Treaty with Cuba are: red and pink beans, other beans, peas, onions, garlic, potatoes, cauliflower, celery, cucumbers, tomatoes, fresh fruit, melons, dried and evaporated fruits, walnuts, filberts and other nuts.

A meeting is being planned by the local unit of the union for the near future, Mrs. Sloan said. A speaker who is conversant with the topic will present it to the farmers of this district. The date and the name of the speaker will be released soon. Mrs. Sloan urges interest in the question here.

CHAMBER ASKS STATE FOR AID IN STREET CLEANING PROBLEM

TOWNSHIP SCOUTS TO PARTICIPATE IN CAMPOREE

Washington township will be represented by three patrols of scouts—two units from Troop 1, of Centerville, and one patrol from Troop 1, of Irvington—at the Sixth Annual Camporee to be held on the shores of Lake Merritt, Oakland, beginning Saturday. The above troops are sponsored by the Centerville Lions Club and the Irvington I. O. O. F. respectively.

The local boys will be three of twenty-seven patrols from the southern part of the county to participate in what is forecast as the region's greatest Camporee. The final enrollment shows that more than 1000 boys will be on hand for the huge camping demonstration. The public is urged to pay a visit to the boys.

Benefit Whist Friday For
Lunch and Milk
Fund

Wide public interest will greet the first Parent-Teachers' affair to be given this season by the local chapter tomorrow night at the Niles grammar school.

The party will be a benefit whist, to raise funds to defray expenses incurred throughout the year in caring for unfortunate children at the school. Each year, the Parent-Teachers group here feeds numerous children. Free lunches and milk are provided.

Mrs. Harvey Braun will have charge of the prizes and Mrs. K. Franklin, the refreshments. The affair has been arranged by the P.T.A. board, acting as general committee.

Among recent activities of the local chapter was the attendance of five members at the first East Alameda County Council meet, held last Thursday evening at the Castro Valley grammar school. Those who went from here: Mrs. C. M. Myrick, Mrs. Frank Silva, Mrs. Harvey Braun, Mrs. Roland Bendel and Mrs. J. J. Alberg. Later in the year the local chapter will entertain the council in Niles.

The regular October meeting of the Niles group will be taken up by discussion of ways and means of increasing membership and interest here. Throughout the two weeks preceding the meet, Mrs. Georgia Burr, vice president and membership chairman, will conduct a membership campaign.

Mrs. C. M. Myrick, president of the local chapter, will be absent from the October meet. She and her husband will leave Monday on a vacation.

Local People Charter Boat For Fishing Trip

A number of Niles people enjoyed excellent bass fishing from a chartered launch at Bay Point Sunday. Members of the party were: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Murphy and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dixon Bristow and daughter Mary Virginia, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Grau and daughter Betty, Dr. C. F. Johnson, of Oakland; William Gaskin, of San Jose.

Sam Kerns was a San Francisco visitor Saturday.

Letter Petitions Funds To Maintain Service For First Street

Street-cleaning in Niles, heretofore done by county crews, is still an uncertain question, following efforts of the Niles Chamber of Commerce to have the duty assumed by the state, by whom the highway was taken over last year.

Chamber president Jones, in a statement to the civic group Monday, said that he had been advised by F. Forrest, district official, of Hayward, to get in touch with John H. Skags, district engineer of the state division of highways. Jones declared that Skags has been informed of the town's wishes, and that a reply should be forthcoming before the meeting next Monday. The chamber official stated that the letter embodied a request that the state allot the small sum necessary to carry on the work here.

Among important things discussed Monday was the Boy Scout campaign in this district for funds to carry on scout work. E. Dixon Bristow, in charge of the Niles drive, declared that the citizens must be informed of the necessity of scout work, and of its value. He said that collecting funds from people who have "community consciousness" was not difficult, and urged that the chamber members do all in their power to broadcast the worthiness of the cause.

E. E. Glassbrook, under whose direction, the chamber committee will canvass the Niles business houses, stated that he and his assistants would begin their work this week, and make a report Monday.

In relation to the re-organization of the Niles Scout Troop, Dr. E. C. Grau, advisory board head, said that his board will select the five scout committeemen this week. The latter group will name the scoutmaster.

At the start of the meeting, president Jones asked members to counteract rumors extant that the Niles chamber committee on the pipe plant had not spent its best effort. Jones said the committee had worked against insuperable odds, and the fact that the plant went to Newark reflected on them in no way.

Jones called the members' attention to the Parent-Teachers' Association card party to be held at the grammar school tomorrow night, and urged that all attend. He explained the invaluable work done by the association in providing lunches and free milk to unfortunate children.

Lester Duffy, indomitably determined to have something done about the Niles Canyon road, brought up the question again at the meet. He stated that state funds are being expended elsewhere for the repair of highways, and could see no reason why the canyon road should not be one of them. Jones left the matter up for discussion and said that he would appoint a committee if the members so desired at the next meeting.

YACHT TRIP

Miss Lurena Chenery, of Niles, spent the week-end as guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ford aboard the latter's yacht "Araucaria". The party left early Saturday morning, cruised about Suisun bay, where they anchored for the night, they returned Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph V. Richmond will be hosts to a group of friends at Castlewood Country Club tonight.

BODY IDENTIFIED AS THAT OF LOS ANGELES RESIDENT

Found Mangled On Rails
Near Newark Early
Saturday

The mangled body of an itinerant, identified Tuesday as that of Faustina Corillos, of Los Angeles, was found on the Southern Pacific tracks near the Albrae station south of Newark early Saturday morning by the crew of a passenger train.

The body had been noticed by the engineer of a freight train several hours before. He had thought the body that of a large dog in the dim light, but reported to the dispatcher. The passenger crew was instructed to stop and investigate.

A small card, issued by a Los Angeles relief society to Faustina Corillos, was the only means of identification. Investigation early this week proved the name that of the slain man.

Interment was in the Irvington cemetery, under direction of the Chapel of Palms.

SCOUTS FUND DRIVE UNDER WAY; GOAL $930 IN TOWNSHIP

Chairmen Eager To Top
Quota Within Time
Specified

The annual Boy Scout Fund drive in Washington township got under way this week, under the direction of Dr. G. S. Holman, of Centerville, general chairman, with the assistance of "captains" or sub-chairmen in surrounding towns.

Means of collection and canvass this time are considerably different than last year's. Instead of using the laborious process of going from house to house, the committees this time hope to contact individuals through membership in various organizations and industries. Each of the latter has appointed a captain, who will be responsible for his membership.

With the quota for the district set at $930 this time, fund drive workers have swung off to an early start this week. It is the ardent hope of the drive officials that the district will go over the top this time. Last year the goal was not attained.

Chairmen of the various towns are: Niles, E. D. Bristow; Centerville, Tom Silva; Irvington, R. L. Pond; Newark, Mrs. Lena Bertolotti and E. Frick. I. P. Beasley, scout field executive, will be in contact with officials here throughout the drive.

SCOUT COMMITTEE SELECTED BY BOARD

Rehabilitation of the Niles Boy Scout Troop is getting under way this week with the announcement made by Dr. E. C. Grau, advisory committee head, that scout committeemen have been appointed. The five named so far are: O. W. Ebricht, Clarence Crane, Paul Donovan, Frank Perry and Harvey Braun. Grau stated that the appointment of several others is more than likely.

The new committee will meet tomorrow afternoon at the P. C. Hansen building to begin discussion of the appointment of a scoutmaster.

Miss Muriel Fournier, University of California student, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Fournier.

ED. ROSE HAS ADVENTURE IN HIGH SIERRAS

Back in Niles after four days of high adventure in one of the worst Sierra snowstorms in ten years, Ed. Rose, Niles businessman, has interesting tales to relate this week. Rose was one of many hunters and fishermen whose lives were in danger in the mountains last week-end.

Rose and a party of fishermen drove to Eagle Meadow in the high Sierras last Saturday. Their camp is three miles off the main road. The weather was clear, Rose said, when they arrived at camp, and he set out immediately up the stream to fish. He had gone only about a mile (and caught three fish) when a sudden wind arose, bringing smothering flurries of snow. Rose made his way back to camp, hoping to drive out to the main road before the drifts were too high. His car was already buried when he arrived. He and his companions made their way to a ranger station nearby, and were directed to a cabin on the next ridge, where they remained for 3 days until Frank Kruzi and twelve cowboys came to their assistance from Kennedy Meadows.

The party made their way back to the camp and tried to break trail for Rose's car. Failing at this, Kruzi made his way to a nearby camp, where shepherds were preparing to drive their flock to lower levels. He prevailed on them to drive the sheep, 2800 of them, over the trail before Rose's car. With the aid of ponies and ropes, Rose made the three miles to the main road in eight hours.

He rescued a young couple on the trail who had been in their car for four days. The woman was unconscious with fatigue and cold.

Rose is unstinting in his praise of the mountaineers for their eager assistance and kindness.

DANCE COMMITTEES SELECTED FRIDAY BY FIREMEN

Sixteen firemen and lots of energy between now and October 20 give promise of making the Annual Firemen's Dance one of the best in the history of the organization.

Following election of officers of the Firemen's Club last Friday night, these committees were selected to carry out the preparatory work: floor managers, E. E. Dias, Arnold Bellini and Elmer Miller; door, Tony Alves, Frank Rose and John Alves; tickets, Bert Rathbun; hat room, Joe Perry and Sid Carr; parking, Frank Silva and Ed. Oliveira; general chairman and treasurer, Lawrence Avila; relief men, John Turner, Ray Crane, Clarence Crane, Jack Alberg and Bill Mendonca.

New officers of the club were installed last Friday night. Bill Mendonca will head the group this year, John Turner will be secretary and Lawrence Avila will retain his post as treasurer.

The regular standing committees will be appointed at the meeting tomorrow night at the fire house.

Falls Into Circular Saw; Severely Hurt

Charles Nichols, Niles workman, suffered severe injuries last Thursday while falling trees in Rose's canyon, near here.

While at work, Nichols tripped over an obstruction and fell into a circular saw. He was badly cut on one leg. The injured man was taken to the office of Dr. E. C. Grau for treatment.

Nichols will be absent from his work for a month or longer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Legge spent Monday afternoon in Oakland.

NEAR CLOUDBURST SOAKS TOWNSHIP MONDAY AFTERNOON

First Days Of Autumn
Bring Over Half
Inch Of Rain

Jupiter Pluvius, pushing along behind the autumnal equinox, the dividing line between the seasons, swarmed over Washington township with rain squalls early this week. Rain gauges throughout the district proved the local nature of the showers. Some of the devices registered as high as .59 of an inch, others as little as .20. Gauges in the region about Niles showed the precipitation to be heaviest here at a little over one-half inch.

The first real rain of the year came down early Sunday morning, and continued at intervals throughout the day. Sunday night was clear. A short-lived cloudburst, bringing .40 of an inch blasted the region with rain and hail Monday afternoon. House gutters, still uncleaned after a long summer, were sadly overburdened, and street gutters were full to overflowing. Pumps in the underpass north of Niles were unable to carry off the torrents fast enough, and traffic played motor boat for several hours. An Oakland-San Jose stage became bogged down late in the afternoon.

Vegetable growers throughout the district welcomed the down-pour, particularly the cauliflower planters, whose early crop is benefitted. Tomato growers, although not overjoyed, said that the crop would not suffer heavy damage. The picking has kept up with the ripening, and the vines are not burdened with tomatoes ripe enough to be split.

CLUB MEMBERS TO HEAR ILLUSTRATED TALK ON HAWAII

Dr. Daniel Crosby Will Tell Group of Island's
Many Attractions

Members of the Country Club and their guests will enjoy the second meeting of the season for the group Tuesday, October 2, when Dr. Daniel Crosby, of Oakland, will deliver an illustrated talk on Hawaii.

Dr. Crosby, a former Centerville resident, will be welcomed back by many old friends. Each member of the club will be privileged to bring her husband or another guest.

Mrs. Hugh Kibby, of the music committee, has had charge of the musical entertainment. She reports that Miss Doris Kinne, well-known concert violinist, will play several selections.

Huge Nest of Widow Spiders Discovered

Hundreds of deadly widow spiders were discovered and destroyed early this week in an abandoned well near Centerville, according to word received here.

The arachnids were found by F. Perano, highway superintendent.

It is said that there were spiders in all stages of development. The discoverers noted several large females devouring the males, from which habit the spider derives its name. Perano caught several of the poisonous arachnids, and displayed them in a bottle. All were extremely large. The nest was burned out.

Strange As It May Seem

A Girl Like Milly

By ROBERT SIDMAN
© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate, WNU Service

I DIDN'T like it, and I told her so. I said, "Gees, Milly, we didn't have to come to the park to sit down and talk, even if it is spring. We could've done that up at my place, or yours. Anyway," I said, "I ain't so keen on talkin'."

"Neither am I," she said. "So let's not." And she flopped down on a bench. I walked away, tryin' to dope out whether I'd get mad clean through or not. Only you can't always get mad clean through when you're that way about a girl, especially a girl like Milly.

The next thing I knew, she was lightin' a cigarette. And then it all happened.

I heard somebody say, "Milly!" I turned about to go back to her then, when I saw a guy I didn't know, talkin' to her. He was leanin' on a little no-account fruit cart an' sayin', "Lucky for me, I seen you lightin' that cigarette. I wouldn't 've noticed you if you hadn't lit that match just when I was passin' by."

She said, "Yeah. It is dark. Wonder why the lights haven't been turned on."

"Something's wrong with the works, maybe. How are you, Milly?" he said.

She said, "Oh, I'm all right, Tom. How about yourself?"

"Who, me?" he said, surprised like. "Oh, I ain't so good. I—I—" He had to stop for a minute. "I guess I'll be all right, though. I'm glad I seen you here. Do you come to the park much?"

"No," she said. "This is the first time I been here since—well, since you left me, I guess."

"Uh-huh," he said. "That's what I thought. I come by here most every night. I probably would've seen you before if you'd been here."

He lit up, and the two of them sat there and smoked a bit. I wanted to, too, but I didn't. Finally, he started talkin' again. "Do you remember—" he started to say, but he didn't finish it.

She said, "Ye-h. It was right here on this bench."

"That's right," he said. "A year and three months ago."

She said, "Four. This is June you know."

"No," he said. "Is it?" She must've said yes, because I heard him say, "Time flies, don't it?"

"It sure does," she said. They smoked some more. Finally, he threw his butt away.

"Milly," he said, "I miss you like h—"

"Yeah?" she said.

"Yeah," he said. "I know it was my fault. I know I left you. But I was mad."

"I'll say you were mad!" she retorted grimly.

"But I been askin' around," he said. "And I find out I was wrong. I mean about that Rumanian," he said. "I find out I was wrong, and that you never did go runnin' around with him. Not that I'd blame you now, if you had," he said.

Milly took a long drag. "Well," she said, "what about it?"

"I'm sorry," he said. "I love you. I love you more than I ever did. I—How about—We ought to—" He couldn't say anything more.

"You mean you want to patch everything up all over again?" she asked him.

"That's right," he said. "Let's be married again."

She laughed, only it sounded like she was cryin' a little. "I been hopin' that some day you'd say that," she said. "I'm willin'. Only there's one thing I want to tell you first."

"What's that?" he said.

"It's about the Rumanian," she said. "You were right the first time. I did run around with him on the QT," she said. "But I never loved him. I never even liked him much. I just did it to make you jealous."

"Oh, that's all right," he said.

"But I promise, if you'll come back to me, I'll never even see him again," she said.

"Oh, that's all right," he said. And he got up.

She got up, too. "Ain't you goin' to kiss me, Tom?" she said.

So he kissed her, and they went off together. He never even saw me.

I stood there and watched them across the horse-ridin' road. Then I decided it was time I ought to be headin' for home, too.

I stopped by the first lamp post to take some dirt out of my shoe, and I felt somebody tap me on the shoulder. I looked up. "Oh, hello, Mike," I said. It was one of the cops I knew.

"What you doin' out here by yourself, Van?" he said.

"Oh, nothin'," I said.

"Go home then, you crazy Greek," he said. "It's gettin' late."

"I ain't sleepin'," I said. "And besides, you shouldn't never call no Rumanian a Greek. They don't like it," I said.

"Well, you needn't get mad about it," he said. "I just made a mistake, that's all. Anybody can make 'em."

"Yeah," I said. I didn't know I'd been snappy with Mike. I like him too much to be snappy with him.

"Well, g'night, Van," he said.

"G'night, Mike," I said.

Age of Earth

By a recent calculation the earth is 330,000,000 years old and the universe between 500,000,000 and 3,000,000,000 years old. These figures are reached by calculations on the radio-activity of lead, thorium and uranium.

Figured Fancy

The Blanktown Daily Courier
March 25, 1934.

EDITORIAL

THERE has lately been a disgusting amount of to-do throughout the land over the personality and exploits of a certain motion picture actress. To those concerned chiefly, as we all should be with the higher and finer things of life, this woman's undulating hips, indecent exposure, and vulgar expressions can only be revolting.

Her popularity and her possible influence upon feminine manners, moreover, constitute a menace to home life in this country. American women during the past few years have learned to maintain a slender and modest appearance. If this trend is reversed, we gravely fear the effect upon standards of decency and right living.

J. LUCIUS DOAKES,
Editor.

Blanktown, March 26, 1934.

My dear Mr. Editor Doakes:
I have just finished reading what you wrote in your paper about "a certain motion picture actress," and feel called upon to take my pen in hand.

Now, Mr. Doakes, you're a big important man and I'm only a woman who keeps house and tries to be a good wife. But when you say that this lady does no good in the world, only evil, I have to protest. I know different.

My Timothy and I have been married for twenty years and we're both forty-one now. Well, a woman, you know, hasn't all of her girlish charms at that age, and a man just about then seems to get some kind of funny romantic notions like he had at twenty. At least, that's how it was with Tim and me. I guess he began to look at me a little critically, or something, and saw that I wasn't quite the slender damsel he longed for.

Anyhow, pretty soon I heard rumors that he was running around with some red-headed woman who wore a size 14 and looked the same from all angles.

I didn't do anything because I didn't know anything to do. He kept right on, going out oftener and staying away longer all the time. Finally I began to think it would have to end in a divorce or separation, which would also have been the end of life for me.

Then, one night he said, "Let's go to a movie." We always did that when he wasn't stepping out. He didn't seem to like being alone with me for an evening any more. So we went down to the Superba without bothering to find out first what was there. Well, it turned out to be a picture with this actress you wrote about. I'd never even heard of her before, and I didn't think Tim had.

When it was over he said, "Let's stay for the second show." We did, and then half the night Tim kept me awake raving about her. That, he said, was the way a woman should look and be.

Next day I thought a lot about it and suddenly got an idea. I hunted around, found my corset, and put it on, under the slinkiest dress I had. The effect was pretty good, and even better after I'd cut four inches off the gown's neck in front. The curves were really surprising, but I won't go into details that wouldn't interest you.

When Tim came in that night, I was standing by the fireplace in the corset and the dress and about a dollar's worth of dime store jewelry and with my hair piled up curly-like. He just stopped dead and stared for about half a minute. Then he almost jumped across the room and said, "Good gosh, honey, you sure look like a million! Don't think I was slow seeing it, but you floored me so I couldn't think what to say."

Well, that's about all. Tim's stopped going out, and he wants to take a second honeymoon this summer. I guess I've written an awful lot about things that don't concern you, but I wanted you to know that the lady you called a wrecker of homes actually saved one.

Yours very truly,
MRS. T. C. M.

ANNOUNCEMENT

March 27, 1934.
Mr. J. Lucius Doakes, editor-in-chief of the Courier, has been granted an indefinite leave of absence due to the delicate condition of his wife following her recent arrest and subsequent removal to the Psychopathic hospital.

Mrs. Doakes, it is alleged, placed in a local post box two parcels containing homemade bombs, one addressed to a famous screen star, and the other to Mrs. Timothy C. Martin of this city.

The publishers of the Courier feel certain that this unfortunate incident will prove to have been all a ghastly mistake. It is their firm belief that Mrs. Doakes, charming and petite titian-haired leader in Blanktown's social activities, would have been quite incapable of this outrage. Moreover, absolutely no motive for the act has been discovered.

Doubling for Cupid

THE picture was terrible, and Royal shuddered, thinking of the dreary hotel lobby and the three blocks of sleet and muck he'd have to walk through to get there. He hesitated, uncertain for a moment, and then settled back against the seat and closed his eyes. At least the theater was warm.

The chair shook, disturbing his doze, and he looked up irritably at a dim shape slid into a seat beside him. He had one glimpse of a white face and then, with no preliminaries at all, the girl produced a tiny handkerchief and proceeded to cry into it with quiet abandon.

Royal watched with a detached sort of interest, wondering idly if she had marked him as the victim for some lachrymose racket of which he had never heard. But after a while Royal reached out and took her hand in his own.

There was a frantic and unsuccessful tug.

"If you scream I'll turn you loose," Royal warned firmly. He let her consider that possibility for a moment, and went on: "You were crying, you know."

"It was because of the picture."

"It is a lousy picture. It almost moves me to tears, too."

"You're laughing at me."

"On the contrary, I feel very much like crying with you. Perhaps if you'd tell me—"

"There isn't anything to tell."

"I thought perhaps there was a boy—"

"There is not!"

"Who at this very moment is being nice to some blond siren?"

"Her hair was hennaed!"

"The color doesn't matter. She's a cat just the same."

"I'll never speak to him again."

"Serves him right for running away to dinner with a red-headed siren when he could be with a swell—"

"Blond," she replied. "How did you know that he took her out to dinner?"

"Trust a woman like that to take him where she can wear her most becoming evening gown. They're probably at the Blue Bonnet right now."

"The Plaza?"

"What a coincidence! I wanted to go there tonight, but I detest dining alone." After a moment he went on, coaxingly: "You could go home and dress and I'd call for you in an hour."

By seeking out the exact spot that his companion seemed most careful to ignore, Royal recognized The Boy at once. He was a hefty twenty-one, no doubt played guard on his football team, and Royal reflected, he was quite capable of making a battle ground of the restaurant.

"Now, Dorothy—"

"Betty!"

"Now, Betty, you like me fine, and I am very fond of you. We can't have Oscar—"

"His name is Bill."

"We can't have Bill thinking you're eating your heart out for him. That's not the idea at all. I'm not such a bad looking duck myself, and— Stop looking at me as if I was your father."

Royal had to admit that she was doing a very good job of liking him. Her eyes were beginning to glow tenderly. It was their second dance together, and he was a little bit startled when an abrupt hand fell on his shoulder, and Bill stood with arms outstretched toward the girl, ignoring Royal.

"Sorry, Bub," Royal's voice was softly patronizing. "I haven't seen Betty in a long time."

Betty's answer stuck somewhere in her throat, and Royal executed a flourishing reverse step that left Bill blinking his astonishment.

After the dance Betty mumbled an incoherent excuse and slipped away. Left alone, Royal suddenly noticed that the red-headed girl had changed seats and now sat facing him.

The red-head was beautiful in a vital sort of way. She met his gaze across the dance floor, and there was a suggestion of a smile on her lips. Royal sighed deeply and made a feeble effort to bring his thoughts back into safer channels.

At the worst, she could only ignore him. And she had already smiled at him! She smiled again when he stopped by her table, and because the shock of it left him strangely weak, he slipped into the chair facing her.

"Couldn't we make this a—er—party?" he managed to ask. "My—er—Betty and I, and you and Bill. You see, there are so many jolly things four can do."

"I'm afraid we can't," she answered. "You see, your—er—Betty is gone."

"Gone?"

"Yes, and so is Bill. They left together. I just saw them slip away."

Royal pondered that startling information for a moment.

"Gone, are they? Well, let's make it a party of two. There are so many jolly things two can do."

He did not hear her answer. He was thinking that one of the jolliest things he could do was to sit and look into her eyes.

Life From Lightning

Man's affinity with the lightning flash goes vastly deeper than the fear of death; from that same brilliant streak of electricity across the sky we derive an invaluable source of life, says a writer in Tit-Bits Magazine. Lightning, science shows, unifies the oxygen and nitrogen elements in the air into a chemical compound, and so "fixes" them for the consumption of animals and plants. The free nitrogen of the atmosphere cannot, without first entering into union with the oxygen, provide the vital nitrogenous food of living things. Lightning is not alone in performing this service. The soil is full of nitrifying bacteria, which also "fix" the nitrogen of the air. But without its assistance, the number of lightning flashes spread over the two hemispheres being estimated at 300,000 an hour, life on this earth would be drastically curtailed, if not brought to a complete standstill.

The Largest Nation

The British empire, although it includes possessions on every continent and contains one-sixth of all the human beings assembled on our planet, does not enjoy the distinction of being the largest nation, at all times, writes G. K. Turner in the Kansas City Times. The honor belongs to the Mongol empire of the Ghenhis Khan, the diminutive slant-eyed Mongolian who conquered and ruled more than one-third of the earth's population. At the zenith of his power, during the Thirteenth century, his empire stretched from the Yellow sea to the Baltic. Only an epidemic among the ponies of his Tartar horsemen prevented his conquering and tingeling with yellow blood the white peoples of all Europe in the same manner as did his yellow hordes that poured in upon Russia.

Ethiopia, Home of Coffee

Ethiopia (Abyssinia) is the original home of coffee. The tree was first found there by Arab travelers in the province of Kafa, from which the beverage takes its name. Seed was taken from Kafa to the Mocha district in Arabia. In Kafa and adjoining parts of southwestern Ethiopia may be seen vast and virgin forests of coffee. The tree grows without care. Thousands of tons of berries fall to the ground in waste every year.

FIGURES SHOW UTILITY RATE BELOW AVERAGE

Consumers of electricity in northern and central California communities served by the Pacific Gas and Electric company enjoy an average rate that is less than the national average of either municipally owned or privately owned utilities.

The fact is established by comparative figures today by Paul M. Downing, general manager of the P. G. & E. The computation is based upon data issued by the U. S. Census of Electric Utility Industries.

The average rate paid by Pacific Gas and Electric company consumers for all classes of service is 2.2 cent per kilowatt hour which is nearly one-third less than the 3.1 cents average established by the 1802 municipally owned utilities covered by the federal census report and slightly less than the national average of 2.7 cents per kilowatt hour reported by 1627 privately owned systems.

Practical Use of Mirage Is Found by Engineers

The mirage, which is often classed as a hallucination of heat-affected wanderers of the desert, has a practical use among the engineers, says Pathfinder Magazine. The principle behind this strange phenomenon is simple and well known. Refraction of light is responsible for the whole thing. When looking toward a distant point the line of sight always arches instead of following a straight line, due to the bending of the light rays. Therefore, when looking at a distant hill you are able to see a certain portion which is on the other side of the rise. Under certain atmospheric conditions the refraction is much greater than usual and so the arch of the line of sight is greatly increased. This reveals objects which are ordinarily far below the horizon line. These mirages are not uncommon in the West. In some cases the refraction is so great that the object viewed seems to be suspended above the visible horizon. This explains the mirage of desert-fame.

Engineers put the principle to work when it is necessary for them to take readings between two points not ordinarily connected by the line of sight. Since refraction is greatest at night the distant point to be sighted is equipped with a strong light. After some waiting the engineer is rewarded with the desired reading.

HUSKERS TRAMPLE ALUMNI 14 TO 0 SATURDAY

Washington high's Huskers got their first taste of blood Saturday afternoon at the high school field when they buffeted the alumni eleven through four short quarters to win by the score of 14 to 0.

Both Husker touchdowns came in the first half. Al Muniz, flashy half, ripped off fifteen yards straight through the alumni secondary to score the first. Frank Medeiros, fullback, punched over the second several minutes later from the three yard line. Medeiros place kicks for the extra points sailed squarely between the posts.

From all indications, the Huskers are warming up for another championship. Saturday's game proved the potentialities of Regli's aggregation this year. Strong between the tackles, the line charged well for so early in the season. Tackling was a little ragged, but work on the dummy will soon fix that. Regli's weakest spots this time are at the ends, around which the alumni made some of their longest gains.

Among individual players who showed good form were: Louis Manuel, center, who paved the way for the second touchdown by intercepting an alumni pass and running it back deep into alumni territory; Philippen and Sinclair made things uncomfortable for alumni backs on off-tackle attempts.

Although fourteen points behind at the end of the battle, the alumni were by no means disgraced. The game swayed in midfield most of the time. On two occasions the alumni had the ball on the Huskers' one-foot line but lacked the punch to score. Starting the game with a running attack, which got exactly nowhere, the alumni started passing in the second quarter. A spread-eagle formation had the Huskers guessing and for a time it looked like the former stars were away. Wes Raso, Soit, Dusterberry and Ramos were the mainstays of the backfield, with Clarence Pine playing a bang-up game at blocking half. Logan, Cull, Booras, L. Pine, Teeter, Joliff and Medeiros worked well in the line.

Chinese Dinner Service for Eight Has 150 Pieces

An addition to the Chinese ethnological exhibits at Field Museum of Natural History, of Chicago, consists of a complete dinner set for eight persons, which includes 150 pieces. The exhibit shows all the utensils used by the Chinese in taking their meals at home or giving a formal dinner party. Each person is provided with a teacup, a rice bowl, a soup bowl and a small dish of condiments. The heavy courses are served in various large bowls, four or five of which are placed on the table at a time, from which each guest helps himself with his chopsticks.

"It is a noteworthy fact that most nations of Asia still eat with their fingers, and the Chinese were the first who introduced good table manners by the invention and use of chopsticks," said Dr. Berthold Lauffer, curator of anthropology.

A wide variety of chopsticks is displayed, made of materials such as ivory, bone, bamboo, wood, plain or lacquered, horn and silver. Scabbards to hold these, and knives used by travelers, are also exhibited. A special silver pair of chopsticks, connected by a chain, are symbolic, being used by a bride and groom on their wedding day.

CAST CHOSEN FOR STUDENT BODY PRODUCTION

Rehearsals for the Washington Union high school student body play, "The Whole Town's Talking" will get under way this week.

Miss Sybil Botelho, under whose direction the production will be staged, selected her cast from numerous aspirants last week. It is said that the enthusiasm of the amateur players this year runs high, and the director had no little difficulty to choose her leads.

The following were selected: Ramona Mello, Betty Robinson, Walter Rose, Manuel Maciel, Margaret Wells, Harry Cesari, Lawrence Gonzales, Kate Rathbone, Ines McNally, Edith Menezes, Edna King and Alton Jennings.

The play will be staged late in October.

Student Body Budget Is Adopted at High School

The student body budget, amounting to $1606.94 for the year 1934-35 was adopted by the student group at the Washington high school last week. The budget this time is $482.94 higher than last year's. The increase was justified by an increase of $100 in athletic and dramatic receipts. The sale of student body cards brought $696 this time, an increase of $50.

GIRLS LEAGUE IS "BIG SISTER" TO FRESHMEN

Freshmen girls at the Washington union high school were initiated into the school social life Friday afternoon when they were guests of honor at the annual reception given by the girls' league. Each freshman girl was assigned an upper classman as a "big-sister", who escorted her to the gathering and guided her throughout the afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Calderia Is Named U.P.P.E.C. Head

Mrs. Mary A. Calderia, of Centerville, was named supreme director of the U. P. P. E. C. at the recent convention held in San Francisco.

Delegates who accompanied Mrs. Calderia were: Mrs. Mary George, Mrs. Mary Rodrigues and

LIONS CLUB HOST TO SCOUTS AT ALMADEN

Among the most ardent workers during the First Annual Washington Township Fair were the Centerville Boy Scouts, whose traffic-directing, program-selling, and all-around helpfulness warmed the hearts of the Centerville Lions club.

Determined to give the boys their due, the club reciprocated recently with an outing on the Fred Rogers' property at Almaden, where there is a swimming pool, woods to hike in and a generally good set-up for an out-of-doors time.

Games and camp activities occupied the day for the scouts, who were accompanied by Fred Rogers, Joe Jason and Lloyd MacDonald.

APPENDICITIS

Stricken with appendicitis early this week, Antone N. Silva, popular Centerville man, was taken to the Jackson Lake hospital in Oakland Monday in the Botelho ambulance. He was not operated on immediately, but kept under observation.

Mrs. Belle Silva.
The delegation returned to Centerville last Thursday.

Ice Refrigerator Is Excellent Cake Box

Did you know that a modern ice refrigerator makes a perfect bread or cake box? Bread or cake kept there will remain fresh and sweet much longer, for this reason: The melting ice in the ice compartment not only chills the air, but also conditions it. Food odors and impurities are continuously dissolved and carried off down the drain by the melting ice, thus leaving the air in your ice refrigerator always pure and fresh. At the same time, the air passing through the ice compartment picks up just the right amount of humidity to keep bread and cake, as well as other foods, from drying out.

Bank Of America To Keep Up Interest Rate

Although interest rates on savings accounts are being reduced October 1 in some sections of California, all branches of the Bank of America will continue to pay 3 per cent on savings accounts of present customers. A. P. Giannini, chairman of the board announced today.

The 3 per cent rate also will remain unchanged for new customers depositing not more than $5,000, Giannini announced. Larger amounts deposited by new customers on or after October 2 will receive lower rates, the first $5,000 receiving 3 per cent, the next $5,000 receiving 2½ per cent and amounts above $10,000, 2 per cent.

'STAMBOUL QUEST' TENSE STORY OF WAR INTRIGUE

Jean Harlow, screenland's platinum blonde, is the main attraction at the Hayward theatre tonight in "The Girl From Missouri." The added feature is "Oliver The VIII" with Laurel and Hardy.

"Stamboul Quest," a story of intrigue during the great war is the leading feature for tomorrow and Saturday nights. Myrna Loy and George Brent are the principals. "Let's Talk It Over" with Mae Clark fills out the bill.

Shirley Temple, the star of all stars, comes again Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in "Baby, Take A Bow." Cast includes James

Puppies Born Pure White
Dalmatian puppies are born pure white, void of any trace of spots, supporting the claim of bull-terrier ancestry. Showing first in the form of a dark rim on the abdomen, the spots gradually appear on the neck and ears and then along the back making their complete appearance after sixteen days.

For Wednesday and Thursday nights, October 3, 4, Elissa Landi and Frank Morgan play in "Sisters Under The Skin" on the same bill is "The Hell Cat" with Robert Armstrong and Ann Sothern.

Longest Shadow in World
For the longest shadow in the world, one must go to the Canary Islands. It is cast across land and sea by El Titon peak on the island of Tenerife, largest of the Canaries. El Titon rises abruptly 12,200 feet above the Atlantic, and at sunrise and sunset it casts a shadow which a Collier's Weekly correspondent recently measured at a maximum length of 200 miles.

Every home in this "City" bought A 1934 ICE REFRIGERATOR

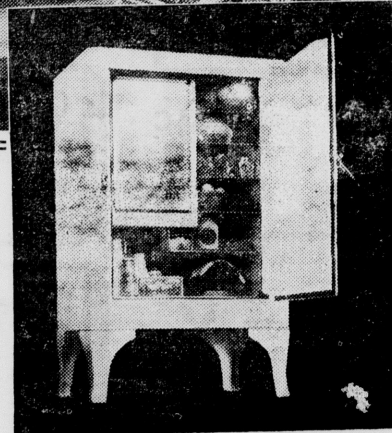

Are Californians buying ice refrigerators this year? Yes! The ice companies alone have sold enough to furnish every home in a city the size of Fresno with a gleaming white, low temperature, 1934 ice refrigerator.

Why This Overwhelming Endorsement of ICE Refrigeration

Because thousands upon thousands of shrewd California housewives have proved to their own satisfaction that only one form of refrigeration provides all refrigeration advantages. And that is ICE in a modern ice refrigerator.

This Low Temperature Ice Refrigerator

44⁵⁰

You Want All These Refrigeration Advantages. See That You Get Them.

LOW TEMPERATURE

1934 ice refrigerators give lower temperatures with less ice.

FLAVOR PROTECTION

Only ice provides the non-drying cold that keeps foods fresh and tasty.

PLENTIFUL ICE

You never "run out of ice cubes" with an ice refrigerator.

DEPENDABILITY

A block of ice never gets out of order.

CONVENIENCE

Give the ice man your back door key—he'll make your ice refrigerator "automatic."

BEAUTY

1934 ice refrigerators are beautifully designed, and finished in gleaming white.

LOW COST

Size for size, ice refrigerators cost only one-fourth as much as standard mechanical substitutes. An ice refrigerator is cheaper to buy and cheaper to own. Figure the depreciation on a mechanical unit and you'll soon see why.

NILES NINE WINS OVER OAKLAND TEAM, 4-1

Beginning a winter season of independent ball, the Niles C. of C.s. added another victory to their string Sunday when they defeated the Ransome Company team by a score of 4 to 1 at the Niles grammar school diamond.

Sporting all home talent with the exception of the pitcher, the Niles aggregation played air-tight ball throughout the entire contest. The pitcher, a Decoto boy, did good work for his adopted team. He allowed only six hits, struck out seven men, and scintillated at the bat with three hits for four tries.

Johnny Arias, new Niles short stop, is warming Manager Pine's heart with his snappy work in the field. Lawrence Pine and Bill Oliveira covered the outer reaches well. Oliveira replaced Wes Raso, regular, who is out with an elbow injury. Raso umpired the game. C. Pine, catcher and manager, hit three for four to tie for batting honors. Tony Duarte hit the seed safely twice out of three.

Three-Dollar Gold Pieces

Three-dollar gold pieces were coined during the years 1854 to 1880, inclusive. Round pioneer half-dollar gold pieces were minted during the years 1859, 1853, 1854, 1856, 1859, 1860, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, 1871, 1872, 1873, 1875, 1876 and 1878; the octagonal pioneer gold half-dollars in the years 1853, 1854, 1855, 1856, 1857, 1858, 1859, 1860, 1864, 1866, 1867, 1868, 1870, 1871, 1872, 1875 and 1876.

The Philippines

These islands were called by the Spanish las Islas Filipinas in honor of Felipe (or Philip) II of Spain, and the natives called Filipinos. It was during his reign, in 1563, that the Spanish colonization of them began. In Spanish the "ph" is not used to represent the "f" sound as it does in English, and therefore, the English language Anglicized Filipinas as Philippines.

"The Man of the Hour"

"The man of the hour" is a phrase applied to an outstanding leader whose popularity and power make him the most conspicuous of all leaders. Because popularity and power depend largely on the pleasure of a fickle public which is "for" today but tomorrow may be "against," the phrase carries with it the connotation of uncertainty.

Chihuahua, Graceful Dog

In its general appearance the Chihuahua is a graceful, alert, swift-moving little dog with saucy expression, compact and tiny, with terrier qualities. They average from two to six pounds, the smaller they are the more desirable for the show ring.

DECOTO BEATEN BY NEWARK 3 TO 2 SUNDAY

The J. & F's. beat Decoto by a score of 3 to 2 in the first game of the league. Newark won the game in the 9th inning when Ornellas came through with a double with two men on. Dondero hit a home run in the second inning to score the first run for Newark. He also hit a single in the ninth inning. Kid Robinson and W. Robinson hit one each. Ashton, Newark pitcher, allowed 3 hits and hit 1 for 4 tries.

Brazil, Decoto pitcher allowed 6 hits and hit a triple. Ornellas, J. & F., robbed Decoto of a home run in the eighth inning. Newark will play Hayward Merchant at Newark next Sunday. J. & F's will play six games on succeeding Sundays at home.

WHIST PARTY

The Holy Names Society of Newark boys are completing plans for a whist party. The affair will be in the school auditorium on October 10. The returns will benefit their society.

St. Edward's church held their whist party last night. It was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Hoffmann attended an Oakland theatre Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Pine, son Wilbert and daughter Myrtle, visited relatives in Los Gatos Saturday night.

Mrs. J. Ward returned to Vallejo for duty Tuesday. He expects to be stationed there for about two months. His ship is the U. S. S. Dolphin, a submarine.

Sunday School Pupils To Be Promoted Sunday

Next Sunday, September 30, will mark a milestone in the life of many of the young folks of the Newark Presbyterian school, for that long looked for Sunday will be promotion day.

The school is divided into several age groups; beginners, primary, junior, intermediate and high school age.

The children have all been working to memorize parts of the scriptures, and some will be given an opportunity to show what they have learned.

All those promoted will receive a beautifully engraved certificate. The Sunday School period begins at 9:40 a. m. Many of the parents, relatives, and friends of the children will be present to witness the happy event.

BAZAAR

The Newark Catholic church will sponsor a bazaar in the early part of November. Many donations have already been received.

COURT OF HONOR

The Newark Boy Scouts will hold a Court of Honor in the Newark school auditorium on next Monday evening.

Swainson's Beauty Salon Phone Centerville 117.—J10fc

Mr. and Mrs. F. Budd and daughter, and Edith Schwartz, all of Vallejo, visited the Hoffmann's in Newark, Sunday.

Mrs. J. Ward accompanied by her husband and children Bobbie and Shirley, also friends Mr. and Mrs. L. Layson, motored from San Diego to Newark to visit with Mrs. Ward's mother, Mrs. M. Buchanan.

All rooms in the Newark school are well filled this term. One family of seven children entered Monday from Arbuckle.

The Submarine

A submarine is defined as a vessel capable of being submerged and propelled under water, and essentially armed with torpedoes which can be fired while submerged, aim being taken by means of a periscope, which alone is visible to the surface craft being attacked.

The Ten Commandments

If the stones-bearing the Ten Commandments are still in existence, no one knows their whereabouts. They were placed in the Ark of the Covenant and, at the time of the capture of Jerusalem by Nebuchadnezzar, the Ark with its entire contents was either destroyed or lost.

Heavenly Bodies in Collision

Collisions between heavenly bodies are not unusual; in fact they are occurring all the time in the vast spaces of the universe, although one would imagine that there was sufficient room in the limitless heavens to accommodate all without interference.

CLEAN HEAT

NATURAL GAS

WHEN Natural Gas heat comes in, dirt and dust and grime that is ever present with old fashioned fire-tending or smoky fuel goes out—forever. For Natural Gas is delivered clean, burns clean and leaves no residue to be gathered up and hauled away.

What a change too, this modern fuel brings throughout the house! Curtains, laundered clean and crisp, stay clean. Wall paper, ceilings, floors and rugs keep looking like new—years longer. There is no grimy dust settling into furniture and upon window ledges. Think of what all this means when both labor and worry of housework are lightened—made so much easier.

Save hours of needless work keeping fires up this winter. Change your basement or storeroom into a playroom or clothes-drying room this winter. Save money too in redecorating costs, renovating costs, rug cleaning bills, by changing to Natural Gas heating.

Why not make the change to modern, clean heat in your home this month—right now!
